Feast of the Holy Family  • December 29, 2019

PASTORAL SHARINGS (Reprint From 12/30/18)

I pray that during these past days, this Christmas week, each of you has deeply felt the Christmas message that God is with us. As a Church we continue to celebrate the Christmas season. Today is the Feast of the Holy Family of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph. They are the model family. They brought Jesus to His "Father’s house" as was the festival custom for the feast of Passover. As parents we are called to bring our children to church, to pray with them, to teach them our Catholic faith. Children learn best by example, and the way that we live out our faith in our daily lives influences them greatly.

The second reading today guides us to live in peace and harmony with everyone we encounter. "Brothers and sisters: Put on, as God’s chosen ones, holy and beloved, heartfelt compassion, kindness, humility, gentleness, and patience, bearing with one another and forgiving one another, if one has a grievance against another; as the Lord has forgiven you, so must you also do. And over all these put on love, that is, the bond of perfection. And let the peace of Christ control your hearts, the peace into which you were also called in one body. And be thankful." Colossians 3:12-15

This passage reminds me of the lessons that my husband Brian and I strove to pass on to our four children, the importance of sharing God’s unconditional love and forgiveness. As you see your children grow up and grow out, you realize that it is your job to show them the face of God. You cannot control your children, but you do your best to guide them and help them form their own moral conscience. You live your life by example; and you let God’s love shine through you so they can see how fulfilling living a life of faith, hope, and love can be. You are a steward, so to speak, of God’s love. The love for a child is so challenging at times, but then you remember that God’s love for each of us must be challenging at times as well. God will never leave your side, and He is ever-merciful if you ask for His forgiveness. We need to let our children know that we will always be there for them, even through the toughest trials. Forgiveness is such a big part of love, and it is at the core of our faith. There is such a fine line between forgiveness and enabling, but that subject would be way too large for the bulletin; so let me just say that we need to discern once again how we are to teach our children to build their own moral conscience. Tough love is sometimes necessary and is one of the most difficult things to carry out. We cannot fix everything for our children, but we can be there for them to listen and to try to help them figure out how they can help themselves. As we heard in the Gospel today, Mary and Joseph were filled with anxiety about Jesus staying at the Temple and being separated from them. When they found Him they scolded Him, and then Jesus was obedient to them after that. The Holy Family is a beautiful model for the Domestic Church within each Catholic family.

I have the privilege of watching the Catholic Church, the Body of Christ, in action through my work with Youth Ministry. The teens are filled with compassion and excitement when they use their time and talent to share Christ’s love with others. Youth Ministry provides opportunities for teens to connect with the church and to feel a part of our Catholic community as we gather and as we serve others. During Advent many teens made fleece blankets for the elderly and for Family Promise, went Christmas Caroling at Crestwood Place and throughout the St. Norbert neighborhood, sorted Christmas gifts that generous parishioners donated for those less fortunate, and most importantly celebrated Masses together. The Teen Mass offers a wonderful opportunity for our teens to feel the living Body of Christ in their lives through the Eucharist. It allows them a chance to be the Body of Christ by participating in and by taking an active role in the liturgy. It is often said that the teens are the Church of the future. I prefer to think that the teens are the Church of today. Let us all pray that more and more teens find a personal connection with giving service to others and participating in Mass as they “Pack The Pews” on Sunday. May we all rejoice in the fact that we are the Body of Christ. Blessings to all St. Norbert and Our Lady of the Brook Parishioners; and may the Domestic Church flourish in your homes as you pass on the gifts of faith, hope, and love.

“And over all these put on love, that is, the bond of perfection. And let the peace of Christ control your hearts, the peace into which you were also called in one body. And be thankful.” Colossians 3:14-15

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

Across this liturgical year, we hear Saint Matthew’s Gospel. And in this holy season that celebrates the birth of Jesus, we hear a story unique to Matthew—the journey of the Magi. He writes: “The Magi were overjoyed at seeing the star, and on entering the house they saw the child with Mary his mother.”

We can imagine their joy. They discovered the one for whom they longed and searched. He is the newborn Jesus. His mother Mary holds him in her arms and, at the same time, presents him to the world. In this simple gesture, she evangelizes, gives us the living good news of her son. Then and now, it is a moment wrapped in joy.

On our journey of renewal in the Archdiocese of Chicago, may this image of Mary, mother of the Lord, inspire and encourage us to carry and present Jesus to a world that is so much in need of him. In our marriages, families, workplaces, and communities, may we joyfully carry and present him who is the great light shining in darkness.

God bless you and all your loved ones in this holy season.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Archbishop of Chicago
